CHAIRMAN’S MESSAGE

Congratulations on your decision to pursue Civil Services as a career. Civil Services do not merely offer you just another lucrative job for earning livelihood, but it also provides a great opportunity to realize your potential, the satisfaction of serving your country, and eventually leading it. The government in a democracy like India is predominantly run by the high calibered bureaucrats, who form the core of its delivery mechanism & policy making.

In the recent years, Civil Services has attracted a wider pool of talent. A large number of professionals – led by engineers, IT & management professionals, doctors, lawyers and other meritorious students who could have got lucrative jobs with the corporate sector - have started appearing in the Civil Services Exam. The main reason of their attraction is the balanced combination of class, status and power.

The Civil Services Examination, through its various stages, tests a candidate’s suitability for the top-ranking positions of Indian bureaucracy. Candidates are thus tested for their administrative traits - critical powers of assimilation, clear and logical exposition, balance of judgment, variety and depth of interest, ability for social cohesion and leadership, intellectual and moral integrity. These qualities cannot be acquired overnight, and a candidate must inculcate them through a rigorous training process. After years of research and analysis, the academy has developed a holistic course structure which ensures that students study the concerned subjects while simultaneously developing their mental faculty, requisite techniques and other soft skills necessary to succeed in the Civil Services Examination. Our guidance programme trains students to use their resources optimally and emerge victorious not only in this examination but in every other test of life.

I wish to emphasise here that you must enter the Civil Services with a sincere intention of serving the people of India without any bias or prejudice. India is a land endowed with vast resources and yet a society that has many contradictions. While a section of our society surges ahead with pride to merge with the developed world; a large part of India’s population suffers from poverty and illiteracy. As you step into the administrative system, remember that one of your primary responsibilities will be to bridge this gap between the two worlds.

With the aim to bring out the astuteness of Chanakya in each of you and transform you into able administrators, I welcome you to this Academy, where your commitment will be integrated with our years of experience to guide you in realising your aspirations.

Best Wishes

AK Mishra

CHANAKYA ACADEMY GROUP
Art of Success is a motivational-cum-training programme that aims at unleashing the unlimited power of the human mind. Success Guru AK Mishra says, “I feel that everyone has unlimited powers to succeed and reach any height in life. Everyone is born with a set of unique potentials and if one is trained properly in the art to use their potential, one can create wonders in his/her life and for the society.

Unfortunately, the motivation level in the youth of our country, in general, is low as they grow up in an atmosphere of insecurity and cut-throat competition without much emotional back-up or the right training to face them. Through this programme, I help my students recognize their true potential and learn how to use it to be sure of their success, be it in the Civil Services Examinations or any other field.”

AK Mishra’s Art of Success for the Civil Services Exam is a customized programme to train the human mind to achieve the desired result. The programme aims at developing the right kind of traits and making them a part and parcel of the trainee’s personality. While studying on the pattern of the school/college/university exams, a student develops a good knowledge base but he/she also acquires skill set that might have helped him/her in the Civil Services Examination, but the scheme & orientation of Civil Services Exam is such that it does not test a candidate’s knowledge but his/her skill and wisdom for handling the administrative challenges.

One does not have to study entirely new things while preparing for the Civil Services Exam. In fact, the same matter that has been studied at the school & college level has to be studied and understood from a different perspective, for the Civil Services Exam, again. It only requires a different framework of mind. The difference, thus, is that of an academic framework and an administrative framework. This programme is based on AK Mishra’s Human Software Development Programme, which installs and develops the programme of success within the trainees’ personality. It teaches them the art to prepare strategies of battle-craft before they go on to the battlefield. In fact, it enriches their personality, upgrades skills and enables them to win each battle in there mind before they win it on the ground.

Besides, this programme offers a life-time solution to all the problems of life by addressing the roots of the problems. So, one can master not only the art of success but also that of happiness, peace and sustained growth, on a permanent basis. This programme is for those who want to do something extraordinary in life.

“The biggest obstacle to learning something new is the belief that you already know it.”
